

Annual Report 2022

SHARED ACTION AFRICA
Together We Achieve

Letter from Evelyn

Shared Action Africa ended 2022 very strongly. Throughout the year, we sought new and innovative ways of maximizing the impact of our work at the intersection of economic empowerment, sexual and reproductive care, and rights with climate justice for our women and girls in the refugee settlements. We achieved this by investing more resources into our operations, welcomed new talented staff members to our team, and began on a journey of digitizing some of the operations.

We formed promising new partnerships with the local government, civil society organizations, and the communities that we serve that have resulted in strong collaboratives that supported the expansion of the community impact in Nakivale and Oruchinga refugee settlements in southwestern Uganda.

Our continued growth is a testament to the commitment of our financial and implementing partners, volunteers and our staff. We'd like to thank our Board of Directors, which has never lost sight of what we are about of building sustainable livelihoods, healthy lives, as well as supporting girls and women to become agents of climate justice in the rural areas and refugee settlements in Uganda.

Looking ahead, building on the success of the past three years, our focus in FY2023 will be building the scale with sustainability and reaching more girls and women with sustainable livelihoods, health and building their resilience to climate change.

Please enjoy our 2022 Annual Report.

Evelyn Nassuna

Chief Executive Officer

The Need

“With further displacement everywhere in 2022, total forced displacement now exceeds 100 million people worldwide. This means 1 in every 78 people on earth has been forced to flee – a dramatic milestone that few would have expected a decade ago.

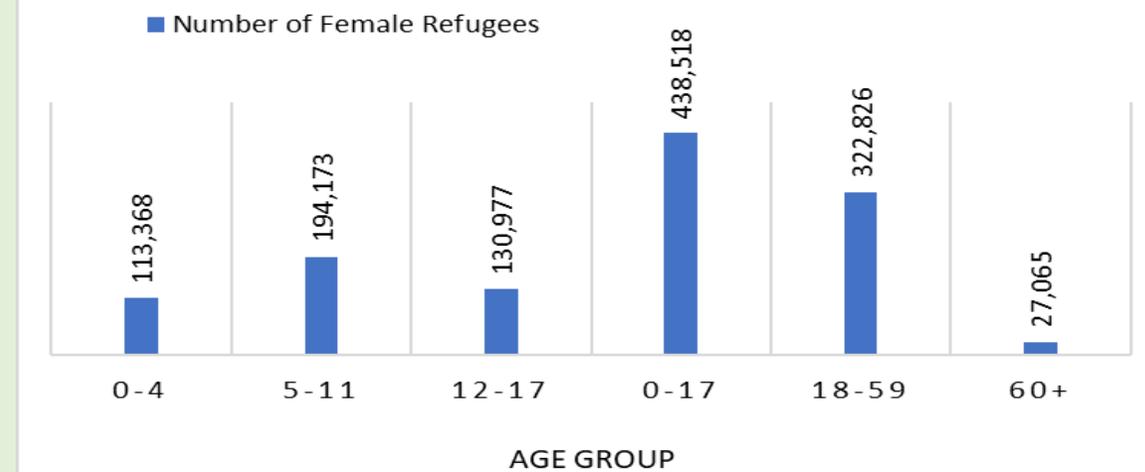

Therefore, as new refugee situations emerge and intensify, and as existing ones reignite or remain unresolved, there is an acute need for durable solutions at increasing scale.”

United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR)

The UN Refugee Agency

With on-going conflicts in Democratic Republic of Congo and South Sudan, Uganda continues to receive new arrivals of refugees through its southwestern and northern borders. However, the challenges experienced by migrant and refugee women increase by the day due to the magnitude of displacement, the growing vulnerabilities, compounded by diminishing resources and strained social services in refugee-hosting districts. The covid-19 pandemic has increased their vulnerability to shocks including major disease outbreaks, food shortages, climate change, adolescent pregnancies, menstrual poverty, sexual and gender-based violence (SCBV) and an increased dependence on natural resources as a source of livelihoods and cooking energy.

How We Serve

Transforming lives through Savings Groups

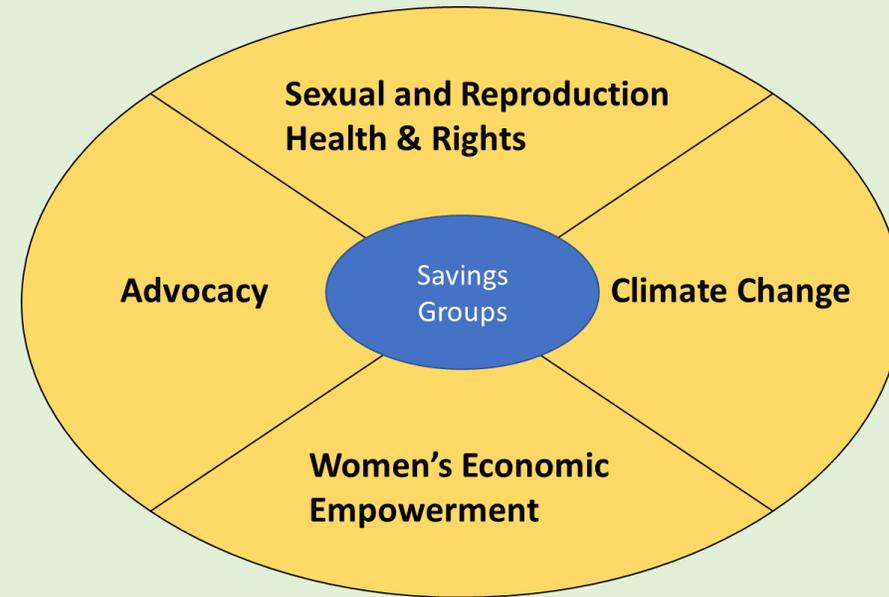

“Savings and Lending are a very powerful tool for transforming the lives of the marginalized women in the rural and refugee settlements as they offer a single platform for accessing many services, while empowering the women to take action through movement building to address the systemic injustices that perpetuate poverty among their communities”

Priscilla Nambajjwe

Director of Operations and Finance

Working through Savings Groups allows us to address the interconnected and complex problems faced by the girls and women we serve. During 2022, we strengthened 20 savings and lending groups with an average of 30 members per group in Nakivale and Oruchinga refugee settlements. It is through these platforms that members met, aggregated their savings from which members borrowed, and made loan repayments on a weekly basis. The funds borrowed by members were mainly invested in income generating activities, purchasing of food, and meeting other household expenses. Also, during the weekly meetings, the members were provided with financial literacy education and business development skills that they used to track group and individual financial records.

Financial Inclusion through Savings Groups

During 2022, the members of Tuzamurane Savings Group jointly created a capital base of UGX 2,938,000. Members accessed loans to meet various financial needs including the establishment of small enterprises within their communities and purchasing of food to feed their families amidst the declining food assistance from the humanitarian organizations.

Kavira Bayilanda, a 26 year-old refugee from the Democratic Republic of Congo wanted to start an income generating business. However, like most refugees she could not find the start-up capital needed to do so. This is because Kavira and her husband were finding it harder to survive on the food assistance provided by UNCHR to support their family of two adults and two children.

Building Resilience and Livelihoods through Savings Groups

To further improve food security, Shared Action Africa mobilized 20 Savings and Lending groups, that came together and formed the Refugee Women's Movement in Nakivale with the objective of lobbying for land to be allocated to refugee women to enable them grow food to feed their families. The Office of the Prime Minister, represented by the Commandant allocated 6.5 acres of land to the Refugee Women's Movement. Shared Action Africa supplied seedlings such as cabbage, amaranthus, green onions and collard greens (sukuma wiki). The seedlings from the group nursery were distributed among members and transplanted on both the communal and individual kitchen gardens.

On the communal gardens, demonstration plots are also established on which climate smart agricultural practices such as proper spacing of crops, composting, mulching are showcased during training sessions and ongoing technical assistance provided. To build resilience to climate change manifested in prolonged droughts during the dry season, and flooding during the rainy season, Shared Action Africa promoted kitchen gardening, a strategy to weather variability. Kitchen gardens are maintained with very little water and are therefore easy to manage during the dry season. As a result, 480 refugee women that were supported by Shared Action Africa accessed a continuous supply of nutritious vegetables over a six-month period during 2022.

Increasing Women's Access to Family Planning and Cervical Cancer Screening Services through Savings Groups

Members of Tuzamurane Savings Group receiving counselling on Family Planning from the Sexual & Reproductive Health Officer during their weekly meeting

The weekly meetings for the respective savings groups are used as a forum by Shared Action Africa to provide community-based family planning and cervical cancer screening services to the women affiliates, as well as to their husbands when invited. This aimed at addressing some barriers that impede the women in the refugee settlements from accessing family planning services, such as long distances travelled to go the nearest health clinics to access contraceptives that can easily be provided within the community.

"I feel honored and lucky to have been offered the opportunity to help my fellow women to make the right choices when it comes to choosing the most suitable family planning method depending on their individual circumstances. Personally, I choose to promote the Intrauterine Device (IUD), because it is one of the best methods that I have used with almost no side effect that I can report about" - Angelica Musimenta

Community Commitment for Lasting Impact

Meet Dativa

“Because of the family planning support services that I received through Shared Action Africa, I was inspired to join the Village Health Team, which I have been a part of since 2021. Prior to that, I was a housewife with no job. By serving as a community health worker, I have gained a lot of respect from the women in the community. It has also helped me earn an income, which has empowered me economically. My savings from income earned in 2021 through the monthly incentive helped me to start up a small retail business. In 2022, I collected over UGX 840,000 through the monthly stipends provided by Shared Action Africa. With the money I earn, I have been able to provide educational support for my 3 children. I have gained a lot of respect from my husband, because I am a contributor to our finances.”

With continuous re-investing, my retail business has become profitable. My plan is to expand my business from retail into wholesale, which I believe that my savings from 2023 will play a crucial role. I am grateful to Shared Action Africa for giving me this opportunity to serve on the Village Health Team because it has changed my life in many positive ways and in turn enabled me to give back to other women.” - Dativa Nyamwiza

Creating Impactful Partnerships

Our partnership with the health facilities managed by Medical Teams International in Nakivale and Oruchinga refugee settlements allowed us to provide 8908 girls and women with family planning services, and 258 with cervical cancer screening services. We are so grateful for the support provided to us by the health workers at the following health facilities, Nakivale HCIV, Rwekubo HCIV, Nshungezi HCIII, Juru HCII, and to all our partners.

“With approximately 79,612 refugees and asylum seekers in Nakivale, we at Nakivale HCIII are very grateful for the collaboration with Shared Action Africa that enables us to expand services and reach more people with specific family planning IEC and behavioral change communication.” - George Lubanga, the In-charge of Nakivale HCIII

Shared Action Africa launched the Arise for Reproductive Justice for refugee girls, which advocated for the establishment of youth friendly spaces where sexual and reproductive health services would be provided to adolescent girls and young women. To achieve this outcome, Shared Action Africa collaborated with the adolescents and young people through their newly created Youth Sexual and Reproductive Health Rights (SRHR) Collective. The latter formed by 174 young people of ages 15-24 organized in 7 youth groups, came together and signed a petition requesting the service providers including Medical Teams International, Isingiro District and the Office of the Prime Minister of Uganda to create youth friendly spaces at 3 out of the 9 health facilities in the target refugee settlements.

Gratitude to Our Donors

We can't thank our donors enough. We are incredibly grateful to have Terry and Carolyn Gannon as part of this journey. You are what makes it possible for us to do the good work we do among the communities we serve.

“Evelyn Nassuna introduced me to Shared Action Africa six years ago when we both attended an annual African Diaspora Investment Symposium in the United States. Her vision and passion for giving a little financial boost to capable women so that they could become entrepreneurs was compelling. I have been proud to provide support to three Shared Action Africa projects since that time—each project quite different, and each one adding value to the women carrying out the project, to their families, villages, and entire communities.

Shared Action Africa's focus on enabling women who have the desire and drive to develop skills and productive outcomes has a multiplying effect: women gain financial capability and respect; they become entrepreneurial role models for their children and spouse; they become community leaders; they develop supportive teams; they show other women how to accomplish similar projects. Really inspiring!” – Carolyn Gannon
